A PACIFIC RAILWAY
GOLD LOAN
$6,500,000.
We beg leave to announce that we have accepted the agency of the Kansas Pacific Railway Company,
For the sale of the
New Seven Per Cent
Thirty Year Gold Loan, Free from Tax.
This Loan amounts to $6,500,000
First Mortgage Land-Grant & Sinking Fund Bonds secured upon the extension of the Railway from near Sheridan in Kansas to Denver, Colorado, a distance of 237 miles, of which 12 miles are completed, and the rest is under construction. It is also a Mortgage upon the Road, the Rolling Stock and franchises of this first class Railway, besides now running through the State of Kansas,
And in Successful Operation for 437 Miles
West of the Missouri River, and earning already enough to meet all of its expenses and existing obligations besides.
More than the Interest upon this New Loan
In addition to this the Bonds are also secured by a first mortgage of the GOVERNMENT LAND GRANT OF THREE MILLION ACRES, extending in alternate sections on either side of the road, from the 394th mile post in Kansas to Denver. The proceeds of the sale of these lands are to be received by the Trustees in the 7 per cent. Bonds themselves up to 120 or in U. S. Bonds, as A Sinking Fund for the Redemption of the Bonds
The lands embrace some of the finest portions of the magnificent territory of Colorado, including a coal field and pinery. The Company also holds as an asset another tract of Three Millions of Acres in the State of Kansas, and although not pledged as a security for this Loan, their possession adds largely to the Company's wealth and credit. We estimate the Value of the Company's Property covered by this Mortgage, at $23,000,000 net, while the Loan is merely $6,500,000,
The Bonds have
THIRTY YEARS TO RUN,
From May 1, 1869, and will pay
Seven per cent. Interest in Gold,
Semi-annually, on May 1 and Nov. 1, and are Free from Government Taxation,
The Company paying the tax.
The PRINCIPAL of the Loan is made PAYABLE in GOLD in the City of New York, but each coupon will be Payable in Frankfort, London or New York, at option of the holder, without notice, at the following rates:
On $1,000 Bond in New York, $35 (gold) each half year
On $1,000 Bond in London £7 6s 10d, each half year
On $1,000 Bond in Frankfort, 87 fl 30 kreuz, each half year
The Agents of the Loan, before accepting the trust, had the condition of the Road and the country through which it runs, carefully examined—they are happy to give the Loan an emphatic endorsement as a
FIRST CLASS INVESTMENT,
In every respect perfectly sure, and in some essentials even Better than Government Securities
The Bonds will be sold for the present at 96, and accrued interest, both in Currency.
The Agents reserving the right to advance the rate.
The attention of investors is invited to these well secured bonds, which we recommend as one of the most profitable investments in the market.
Gold and Government Securities taken in payment at their market value, without commissions.
Pamphlets with maps giving full information, sent on application.

FROM WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Sept 13

Hon. John Rose, and Hon. A. Johnson, the British and American Commissioners for the adjustment of claims under the Oregon treaty, have pronounced an award of $650,000 in gold to be paid by the U. S. to the Hudson Bay and Puget Sound companies in extinction of their possessory rights in the territory west of the Rocky Mountains, irrespective of claim for navigation of the Columbia River.

The judgments of the Commissioners will be published at length.

More Particulars of the Mine Explosion

SCRANTON, Sept 13

The Republican editorially says of the evidence taken on Saturday, that the theory of the fire which has gradually been received, viz., that the woodwork of the shaft was ignited by heat from the ventilating furnace,—is scouted by every experienced miner who was examined.

Marine Intelligence.

SAVANNAH, Sept 13

A heavy northeast gale is prevailing. Steamer Magnolia, for New York, is detained in the Tybee Roads.

New York Items

NEW YORK, Sept 13

It is warm and pleasant. Steamer Nevada from Liverpool has arrived.

The Avondale disaster was the subject of many of the Sabbath discourses in the churches of the city yesterday, and at most of them collections were taken up for the families of the sufferers.

The Cuban Junta, in appreciation of Secretary Rawlins' strong sympathy for the Cuban cause, have presented Mrs Rawlins with $20 000 in bonds of the Embryo Republic and a hearty letter of condolence.

An inquest in the case of Ann McCaffrey, who was found fatally injured in the yard at 132 Cherry street, was commenced by Coroner Flynn yesterday. It appeared that she lived in Providence and had come to see her daughter who lives in Avenue B, but had not visited her and was found by the daughter in the hospital. The case seems to have been a brutal murder, in which a strange mystery is involved.

President Grant and family left this morning for Altoona, Pa.

Patrick Carr was arrested last night in Brooklyn for setting fire to a bed and putting it under the wooden door-step of a tenement house.

The Election in Portland.

PORTLAND, Sept 13

The election is proceeding very quietly. The votes will probably be smaller than last year, but the two parties relatively are very nearly the same as then.

The Hichborn ticket takes off less than 10 per cent of the Republican vote in places heard from, which will not be enough to defeat the election by the people.

Destructive Fire.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13

Five cottages and a stable in Williamsburg were burned yesterday. Loss—$10,000.

Sanfrancisco Items

SANFRANCISCO, Sept 12

The State Fair closed yesterday. Its success financially was complete.

The Western Union and Atlantic and Pacific States Telegraph Companies have consolidated.

The California Pioneers excursion party leave for the east on Thursday the 16th instant.

Elmyra State Fair

NEW YORK, Sept 13

The State Fair opens prosperously. The display of cattle, agricultural implements, and productions, is fine.

Suicide.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13

Robert Barr, confined in Westchester jail on the charge of outraging his own daughter, aged 16 years, committed suicide in that institution last night.

Letter from England.

BIRMINGHAM, England, Aug. 15, 1869.

To the Editor of the Whig & Courier:

The receipt of your paper is like the vision of a friendly face, and reminds me that I made promises of sundry letters which have not yet been written. If my friends will embark with me at New York, on board the steamship Etna, of the Inman line, July 13, we will sail over a most tranquil sea to Halifax and stop long enough to be glad we were not born to live and die there. On the way nobody is sick and we begin to consider ourselves a match for old Neptune. We leave Halifax and soon take a strong westerly wind. All sails are spread and remain so till we reach the channel and look upon the shores of the Emerald Isle. As to seasickness we have lost some confidence and many have been, all the way, what an Englishman would call 'alf and 'alf. We sail up the Irish coast in broad day and enjoy the view of the beautiful and well cultivated fields divided regularly by hedges instead of fences. A tender meets us off Queenstown and takes passengers and mails and we lose the opportunity of seeing the place to which we were foreordained but it did not come to pass.

We reach Liverpool on Sunday, July 25th, at 12 o'clock, and see the most magnificent stretch of granite docks in the world. The Customs officer looks at an envelope we carry and says "all right" and we start for the Queen's Hotel and tarry till Monday noon. We have time on Monday to deliver a letter from Thomas Hill and form a pleasant acquaintance and then look about a little. We are pleased with the town, for though the second in England, it is not a city. Birmingham the fourth in population is also a town with mayor, council and other requisites of an American city. Here it takes a Bishop and a cathedral to make a city and is often a one horse place. Well, we look at the town of Liverpool and admire St. George's Hall, the free library and museum and see three or four hundred men and boys quietly perusing the books which they are not allowed to take away. The Museum is large, and excellent, and open for all.

At noon we start for Birmingham and ride 90 miles in four hours. The railway is finely built and fenced in beyond intrusion, while the slopes are graded and cultivated. We cross no roads, passing over or under them by means of bridges. At Birmingham we find a strange combination of old and new, stretching back through the space of more than a thousand years. One of its churches is eleven hundred years old, while others are recently built. The town is said to cover more territory than any other in England and is regarded as the healthiest in the land. A thousand tall chimneys here and ten thousand shooting up from the back country, a few miles distant, bespeak the varied industry of the region. Everything is manufactured here, from pins, needles, steel pens and fish hooks, to anvils, chain cables and steam engines. Thirty tons of steel is daily converted into pens and they sell at twenty-four for a penny. I am not sure but they pay people to carry off their needles and fish hooks. What a paradise this must be for boys who are piscatorially inclined! The only water, however, in which to use them is found in wells and cisterns.

Now let us look about a little, after we run up the stars and stripes and renew our vows of loyalty to the dear old flag and the blessed land it represents. This enormous Grecian Temple with its stately columns running entirely around it is the town hall. That glass covered building that seems to shelter the earth is the largest railway station in the world, where 200 trains daily arrive and depart. This beautiful modern structure of sandstone is the Exchange, from the corner windows of which we look far down New Street, (the first in the place) and call it headquarters. The free libraries are an attraction and are supported by a small tax levied upon the citizens. They are doing a vast amount of good. The Midland Institute; the boys Gorman School, built and endowed by Edward Sixth; the Blue Coat school; the new Orphans Asylum just given to the town by a Mr. M[illegible]son at a cost of $10,000; the market, and those grey old churches which have stood a thousand years, will all claim our attention as hours of leisure arrive.

Let us first take a tour among the hotels, with names which sound [illegible] attractive than the Bangor House, the Exchange, and the Franklin House. This one, said to be the finest in the midland country, is the Hen and Chickens and inclines you to cluck as you enter. That one above a portion of the railway station is the Queen's. This has a branch establishment at one of the same name every where, and you wonder what they will all do when the Queen puts off this mortal coil. Yonder is the Dog Hotel, and you turn away humming to yourself, "Let dogs delight, &c., and expect some one to greet you with "Bow, wow, wow, whose dog art thou." Here is the Horse and Cart, the White Hart, the Red Lion, the Bird in Hand, and last of all Gould's Temperance Hotel. Bless the dear man! If it is true, he is the only one in the land where they abstain and I presume the [illegible] there is that temperance consists in not drinking more than ten or twelve glasses a day. Talk to the Christian people here about abstinence and the temperance views of Americans, and they look incredulous and only reply, "dear me!" A certain man I know in Bangor would go stark mad and make a new nomination for Queen if he had to see it in this wise, for I have seen and heard more of drinking in its various forms during the last month in England than for ten years before in America.

We will make our home for the present at Turner's Private Hotel, where a few American families are entertained in home style and feel at ease with the quiet old Wesleyan who is at its head.

SUNDAY. Let us lay aside worldly thoughts and deeds and betake ourselves to church. There are two services in all the churches, one at half past ten and one at half past six. For to-day we will go first to the old chapel where Rev. J. Angell James was for many years the beloved pastor, and whose memory is like ointment poured forth on both sides the ocean. My Congregationalist friends must go with me here, for it is their church. Rev. Mr. Dale, one of the most popular men in England, officiates. That is he, with thick black hair, heavy whiskers and moustache, and with a sturdy frame. With a heavy voice he first offers prayer for five minutes, and then announces a terribly particular meter hymn with six double stanzas, and the whole congregation, like the sound of many waters, manage to twist a tune around the awkward measure, and sing the whole hymn. Then follows a second prayer of ten minutes and another particular meter, but every word is full of old time memories. It is Dr. Ray Palmer's beautiful hymn: "My faith looks up to Thee." It only needs to be attached to America, and we would weep over the thoughts of the many times it has greeted our ears and touched our hearts at home. After this comes the scripture lesson, then the chanting of the 23d Psalm. Then the request of Mrs. Somebody that the congregation will join with her in thanksgiving for having passed safely through the pains of childbirth; and a ten minutes prayer and praise follows to which all her friends in America are expected to say, "Amen." Now comes another hymn, still in same meter and you begin to ask if they continue to vibrate all day between singing particular meter hymns, and praying. That group of forty or fifty boys crowded into the corner of the gallery, with three men standing round them to keep them from moving, wish there was no Sunday and are secretly vowing that they will never make their boys go to church. But the sermon follows on the victory that overcomes the world, and the great congregation of twelve or fifteen hundred feel that the preacher is in sympathy with them, after six days of toil and care. Another long and awkward hymn is sung in a manner that almost takes you from your feet by its power. A fourth prayer of ten minutes is offered, three children are christened, the benediction is pronounced, and the people sit calmly for a minute or two and the quietly rise and depart. You are richly benefitted by the whole service, though you go away inquiring with the boy, "Is it this Sunday or next Sunday?"

The house is large with a deep gallery all around. The organ is in front and the choir behind the preacher. The pulpit, like all others we have seen, is a very large hogshead on stilts, about ten feet high, and about two-thirds the way up the centre aisle.

In the evening, we go to Cherry Street Wesleyan church and hear Rev. Mr. Jenkins of London. The opening service is similar to the morning, particular meters and all, except it is not quite so long. Here they also sing as if the whole congregation were a chorus choir, and it thrills you through and through. The sermon is upon Jacob wrestling with the man at Jabbok. He gives a most impressive sketch of Laban and Jacob playing at chess. Laban is the older and more cunning, but Jacob checkmates him, and, though he bears off one wife more than he wanted, has no reason to complain of the herds of cattle which fell to his lot. He then lets you look at the wrestlers and the winning Jacob. You are enraptured with the whole discourse and can scarcely realize he has begun when he closes.

Now we will take a ride, for Sunday is over and we step into this strange vehicle. Of all the gogigs that a man's eye rode in, these are the most abominable. That man perched upon the top behind draws up the reins above your head is the driver. There is room for two inside and the carriage is just poised upon the axle. You sit back and the shafts fly up to a level with the back of the horse, and are only kept there by the strength of the girl. Now you start off and have a ludicrous idea that the driver and horse are playing at tilt across the axle and it often seems doubtful which will go up. Alas! if the girl were to break there would be a mess, and you are inclined to hold tightly to the dasher lest you should go over. Dog carts and traps, about what we use at home for dirt carts, only painted and varnished, are the most common private vehicles. Each wheel is heavier than four of ours and the horse is well loaded before the people get in. But the splendid macadamized roads make it easy work to draw the weight. You are struck with the multitudes of little ponies trotting about with four or five in these heavy carts. Many of these ponies weigh no more than 300 or 400 pounds. There is a great contrast presented by the elephantine team horses that beat the world for size.

On this street the poor people live and they are poor indeed, but over yonder lives Lord Calthorpe. He manages to eke out a living from the income which he has. He owns the whole of the quarter known as Edgbaston, and has at least 20 miles of streets and roads in his estate. These splendid rows of houses, stretching for miles, are built on his land, for which he receives a yearly rental, and houses, lands and improvements, all fall back to him after a hundred years. Poor fellow! Where will he be when this avalanche of wealth shall slide down from the crown of the century? I must reserve for future letters a description of railroads and canals which underlie the streets, churches and houses, of the town; also the old castles and abbeys which date back to the early centuries of the Christian era.

Mr Fessenden.

In our sketch of Mr Fessenden we omitted to state the fact that about the year 1834, he came to this city with the intention of locating to practice his profession. During his recent visit here he spoke of this, stating that he took that course so as not to compete with his father and brother in Portland. He remained in Bangor little over a year, getting up quite a respectable practice. But his wife's health would not allow of her leaving Portland, and he returned to that city.

The [illegible] the following account of Mr. Fessenden's last illness:

"Mr. Fessenden was not been for many years [illegible] robust health, and the excessive labor [illegible] incident to the high station he held [illegible] in the service of the government, [illegible] his strength, and undermined the vigor of his constitution. Since the adjournment of the Senate his friends had generally remarked upon his improved health and unwonted cheerfulness, and had augured for him a prolonged age, vigorous as his ancestors. On Tuesday, the 31st ult., he was in the street and in his usual health. During the night following, he experienced a painful attack of the disease incident to the season, but was relieved, and was considered to be recovering. Dangerous symptoms presented themselves on Thursday, and the evening following, his medical attendants became aware of inflammation of the bowels which did not yield to the most active treatment, and that his life was in imminent danger. During Friday, it was quite generally believed in this city that he was dying, and the rumor went abroad by telegraph that he had actually deceased. But on Saturday and the three following days he was free from pain, and exhibited so much strength, that the hope of his recovery up to Tuesday morning steadily increased. His condition through [illegible] morning [illegible] the was [illegible] opiates, [illegible] minutes [illegible] morning, [illegible] Thomas [illegible] Wood and [illegible] friends [illegible] moments of [illegible]

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption. To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal. To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood. Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care), that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills. Liver Complaint is one of the most prominent causes of Consumption. Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach. The great reason why physicians do not cure consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies. Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy. If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure consumption. When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless. Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond Street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover St., Boston, wholesale agents. A Defensive Medicine. "In time of peace prepare for war," is a sound military maxim. "Let not the sickly season find you unprepared," is an equally good rule in medical jurisprudence. The man must be made of iron who finds himself at the close of summer as strong as at its commencement. Such a phenomenon is rare, even among the most robust of the human family. Muscular and constitutional vigor oozes out of us in the broiling weather of July and August and few of us, at the opening of the Fall, are in the best possible condition to defy the unhealthy influences of the season. Fever and ague and bilious remittent fevers, together with a variety of complaints that affect the digestive organs, the liver and the bowels, form a portion of the Autumn programme. Bear in mind that exhaustion invites these disorders, and that staminal vigor enables the system to repel them. "To be weak is to be miserable," says Satan to his defeated legions, in "Paradise Lost," and the axiom is correct, though it comes from an evil source. Ho! then, ye weak and feeble, fortify yourselves against the invisible enemy that pervades the Autumnal air. The best defence against miasma is a course of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This rare vegetable tonic will improve your appetite, stimulate your digestion, give firmness to your nerves, invigorate your muscular fibre, regulate your secretions, cheer your spirits, and put your entire physique in perfect working order. It is easily done. The standard tonic and alterative which will recuperate and build you up, is not "bad to take," but, on the contrary, a pleasant medicine. See, however, that you have the genuine article. There are imitations and counterfeits in the market, and they are all worthless or deleterious. Bear in mind that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is sold only in glass, (never by the gallon or cask), and that each bottle bears a label surmounted by a vignette of St. George and the Dragon, and our revenue stamp over the cork. sept6 sn3tawdaw

Local and other Items.

—Mr. A. G. Wakefield, whose name appears on the Hichborn ticket, was a firm supporter of General Chamberlain, and was voted for without his consent.

—There is to be a Floral Festival at Orono on Wednesday evening of this week.

RUNAWAY. A coach belonging to the Exchange ran away from the Western Depot yesterday morning, and brought up at a lamp post at the corner of Main and Railroad streets. Little damage was done excepting to knock down the post.

—The election yesterday was very temperately carried on in this city.

PENOBSCOT MUSICAL ASSOCIATION. The opportunity for musical culture and enjoyment in the sessions of this Association—which commences next week—is more than ordinary. The attendance promises to be large. The preliminary rehearsals of the choruses on Monday and Thursday evenings are well attended, and very satisfactory.—The secured seats for the Concerts commenced selling yesterday, as advertised, and they will be delivered at Duren's Bookstore at any time during the week. Tickets for the twelve sessions of the week $2, including the matinees and concerts, (except the front row of seats in the gallery, which are $3.) To singers who take part in the concerts $1.

Those who can accommodate with board one or more who may come from abroad, are desired to leave word with Mr. B. F. Bradbury.

—The last number of the Harper's Bazar contains an illustration and description of the necklace of native gems collected by Dr. Hamlin of this city and displayed at the Salem Science Association. The Mineralogists at that gathering called it "the crown jewels of America," and insisted that all the pretty girls in the country had a right to wear them. And so Miss Foster, the daughter of the President of the Association, and a very beautiful young lady by the way, appeared in them at the reception which closed the meetings.

—As the Portland & Kennebec train was leaving the station at Portland on Saturday morning, two of the passengers who had gone for refreshments, returning to the cars while in motion, attempted to get upon them, but made a misstep, and falling, one of the men was instantly killed, his bowels being scattered, presenting a terrible sight; the other had his shoulder broken and was so badly injured that he was not expected to survive. The one who was killed was reported as belonging in Bath. His family were on board, and their cries and agony were heart-rending.

—Brookline, Mass., had a centennial celebration last week, and it brought together a large crowd from all directions. We may expect large delegations to the centennary celebration of the settlement of Bangor—which occurs on the 30th inst. It would be a pleasant feature in the programme to have the several trades represented in the procession, as well as the Firemen, Masonic, Odd Fellows and Temperance Lodges, and the schools, with their varied banners and devices. The Bangor Cornet Band, Boston Germania, and Portland Bands are engaged to be present, and will give zest and interest to the day.

—E. M. Tibbetts, U. S. Mail Agent between Bangor and Portland on the Maine Central Railroad, has resigned and removed to Dexter to engage in the manufacture and sale of furniture in all of its various branches. Mr. Tibbetts for four and a half years past has filled the position of Mail Agent to the great satisfaction of all concerned. For eight years previous he was employed by the Eastern Express Company, and leaves a host of friends who wish him success in his new business.

—Rev. E. Nugent writes the Zion's Advocate that the Baptist church at Presque Isle has for some months past had a quiet but deeply interesting state of religious feeling. Last Sabbath was a day which will be long remembered. Five converts (all heads of families) were baptized.

—The Sentinel says that the Frontier National Bank of Eastport has declared a semi-annual dividend of five per cent.

—The West Washington County Agricultural Society hold their Fair at Jonesboro' Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 22 and 23d.

—On Wednesday, 1st instant, some flakes of snow fell at Cape Neddick, and frost was seen in many places on low ground on the morning of the 5th, in the same locality.

—The Lewiston Journal says the first train for Portland Thursday morning over the P. & K. Railroad was detained about an hour at Bowdoinham to move an old fashioned red store which the gale of Wednesday night blew around bodily upon the track. Rollers were put under the building and it was finally got out of the way.

—We find in the Portland Press that the bodies of Beniah Lurvey and George Clark, belonging to the crew of the ill-fated schr Helen Maria, were recovered at Peake's Island, Friday morning, and brought to the city. The faces of both were bruised and bloody, and the body of the latter was badly cut. They were taken to Rich's undertaking shop on Exchange street, and were prepared for transmission home to their friends. Both were single men, the former apparently 22 and the later about 25 years of age.

—At the last session of the Maine Universalist Convention, Revs. A. R. Abbott, M. J. Steere, W. W. Lovejoy and A. G. Gaines, were chosen delegates to the next General Convention, to be held Sept. 21st, in Buffalo, N. Y.: Benj. Young, Esq., of Calais, Nath'l Dustin Esq., of Dexter, Allen Sprague Esq., of Augusta, Hon. Joshua Gray of Gardiner, Dr. Gardiner Ludwig of Portland, Dr. D. B. Strout of Auburn, and C. H. Mason Esq., of Bethel, were elected Lay Delegates, as we find in the Gospel Banner.

—The meeting house of the Society of Friends at S. Durham was very badly injured by the gale. One end was blown in and the building unroofed.

—The Maine Farmer says that Rev. C. R. Moore of Augusta, who recently had his leg broken very badly, is now doing well. All danger of amputation has passed.

—The Times is pleased to learn that H. C. Bailey and others are about to establish a lock manufactory in Bath, with a capital of $15,000.

—The Lisbon Falls bridge was considerably damaged by the recent gale, rendering it unsafe for public travel.

FIRES IN CALAIS. We learn from the Eastport Sentinel that two fires occurred at Calais last Tuesday—one in the store of Mr. James M. Hall, which was extinguished before much damage was done. The other was Steele's Grist Mill at Milltown, which was entirely consumed. There was but a small stock of grain in the mill at the time.

—The Portland Advertiser thinks the loss to the Catholic Cathedral of that city by the gale will not be less than $6,000.

THE INSTITUTE AT NEWPORT. All persons regularly attending this Institute, will receive free return tickets on the Maine Central and Dexter branch Railroads. Board for males at the Hotel, will be $1.00 per day. Board for females in private families will not exceed 60 cts. per day. The first session will be at the new Hall, on Monday, the 27th inst., at 10 o'clock, A. M. The Convention of S. S. Committees will be on Thursday, the 30th inst., at 10 o'clock A. M. There will be room for all. Let all come and get their educational strength and zeal renewed.

S. A. PLUMMER,
Co. Sup.

—The Gardiner Reporter says the late gale was terrific in that vicinity. A house in the process of construction, on Liberty Street, owned by Mr. Phillips, was blown down by the gale. A new house, owned and occupied by Mr. Mateir, on the Pittston side near the steam mill, was very badly damaged. The ell was completely demolished, while the main part, which is two stories in height, was moved several feet and greatly injured. One of the inmates, who was in the ell at the time was precipitated into a place beneath which had been dug out for a cistern.

—The Bath Times says Eddie Maguire, one of the trio of Bowdoinham bank robbers, undertook recently to make his escape from prison by digging out. He had played off sickness for a day or two, and by this means got permission of Warden Rice to remain in his cell for the purpose of making his escape. When his operations were discovered he had excavated quite a hole, but it would have been impossible for him to have got out had he not been disturbed. He is now in solitary confinement.

—The Journal says the gale had nearly spent its force reaching Lewiston. The only serious damage yet reported is the blowing down of the shed stables building on the Trotting course. The structure was 100 feet long and 16 feet wide, with shed roof, and was boarded and shingled, but not fully completed. It is completely demolished.

—The Gospel Banner says that Conductor Hodge's (evening) train, on the Portland and Kennebec, was a little late on Tuesday evening last, in consequence of the pressure of business. It consisted of several cars and tarried perhaps two minutes at the Gardiner Station, during which time some heartless person or persons placed a timber across the track in advance of the blind car wheels, in hopes probably that when the locomotive started it would precipitate the car off the bridge and dump it into the water beneath. Fortunately the passengers, many of whom were returning from Camp Meeting, had all left the car, and when the engine started the wheels passed over the timber and came in place on the track again without injury.

—Rishworth Jordan has been elected President of the Saco National Bank in place of Philip Eastman, deceased, and Luther Bryant of Biddeford, a Director to fill a vacancy, so says the Journal.

—The following patents have been issued to Maine inventors: W. A. Estes, South China, Revolving Cultivator; A. F. Noyes and N. D. Becroft, Bangor, Hand Weeder; W. B. Clark, Whitefield, Velocipede; W. H. H. Frye, North Fryeburg, Sulky Harrower; J. Kingman, Waltham, Joint Standard Sled; E. Gray, Oldtown, Implements for Carpenters use.

—The Bath Times has been shown a fine specimen of feldspar, procured from the farm of Charles H. Brown in Georgetown, where it is to be found in great abundance. The mineral has a great commercial value, and is extensively used in the manufacturing of porcelain ware. Mr. Brown will shortly take steps to put his property in the market for sale. It is close by tide water, and presents favorable means of access.

—The Skowhegan Reporter says that about two o'clock Wednesday morning the stable connected with Emery Hotel in Athens, was discovered to be on fire, and had made such progress that it was impossible to extinguish the flames. The fire extended to the hotel, which was completely destroyed, and then to the extensive stores of John Ware, jr., which were destroyed. The hotel was next to the Brewster, the largest in that county, and was opened last December. It was furnished throughout with new carpets and furniture. Its cost must have exceeded $20,000. The stores of Mr. Ware were more extensive than those of any one trader in that county, and the loss must be very heavy.

—The late storm was very severe in Bath, and created a great deal of excitement. The amount of property destroyed the Times estimates at $50,000. Among the sad accidents, it says the Captain of the schooner Comet, Alvin Oliver of Arrowsic, and his brother, a small boy, in attempting to board the Gen. Chamberlain, were both lost overboard, and while the boy succeeded in drifting ashore on a plank, the captain, was unfortunately drowned. The Times says: The Free Will Baptist church at the corner of North and Willow street, is a perfect wreck. It was an edifice built some sixteen years ago at a cost of $8,000, and worth at the time of its destruction some $10,000, which is the loss. In size it was 44 by 60, and was surmounted by a steeple at an elevation of about 100 feet from the ground. It contained an organ which fortunately escaped injury, and is the only thing that can be saved. The gale took the steeple in its clutch about fifteen minutes past 9 o'clock, and toppled it lengthways off the ridgepole, it falling in a line a little west of north. It fell with a tremendous crash that aroused the neighborhood, crushing in the roof through to the underpinning. At the north end stood the pulpit, with hardly a vestige of it now to be seen. Only the south front of the building is standing, in which portion is the organ. The glass globes of the lights in this part of the edifice, notwithstanding the shock were not even displaced. The trustees of the Universalist Society have very kindly tendered the use of their church, Sunday forenoons to the unfortunate sufferers.

FATAL ACCIDENT. Last Monday a little son of Mr. Wm. C. Drogin of Calais, about five years of age, was run over by a horse and carriage passing along one of the streets of that city, and almost instantly killed.

—The following resolutions were passed at the Penobscot County Quarterly Lodge of Good Templars, holden at North Newport, on the 9th inst., represented by nearly all the Lodges in the County—

Resolved, That the temperance cause is the cause of God—second only to the cause of Christianity—and it is the imperative duty of all, and especially professed Christians, to give it their earnest, cordial and active support.

2d—That the traffic in intoxicating beverages is a dishonor to Christian civilization, inimical to the best interests of society, and should not be allowed, or licensed any more than theft, arson or any other crime, but should be prohibited by State and National legislation.

3d—That this County Lodge heartily endorse the principles put forth by the National Temperance Party, recently held at Chicago, and consider it the duty of all Good Templars to give them a willing and cheerful support.

4th—That this County Lodge earnestly recommend to all Superintendents of Sabbath Schools, and all teachers of Common Schools, to introduce the "Total abstinence pledge" into their respective schools, and secure the signatures of their scholars to the same.

Letter from Boston.

BOSTON, Sept. 10, 1869.

Editor of the Daily Whig:

Have you heard anything about the hurricane we have just experienced? The papers are full of it. Since 1861, they say, there has been no such terrible blow in Massachusetts. Houses were unroofed by the hundred; large trees torn up by the roots; spires tipped over, walls fell in, and the entire city for a time lay at the mercy of the raging elements. The gigantic column which has sheltered its hundreds of thousands lays dismantled and almost a total wreck. It is too far gone to ever admit a hope for reconstruction. Down on Hanover street, the "cockerel" church, as it was called from the weather-vane on its steeple, one of those relics by which every Bostonian makes his daily affirmations is thoroughly gutted, and its crowning steeple is broken into many fragments. Another church, in South Boston, which was almost ready for dedication, has gone where all good churches go. The tempest made sad work with the trees about the city. At one time Wednesday evening, Beacon street was entirely blockaded by the fallen trunks which were strewn across the pathway.—The ancient elm lost one of its strongest arms and many other Boston celebrities were made to bite the dust.

THE MANIA FOR RELICS which pervades certain classes of the community, was strikingly exhibited at the close of this gale. The grounds about the Coliseum were crowded with eager individuals of every walk in life and both sexes, who were busily carrying away mementoes in the shape of sticks and splinters of pine wood. An enterprising Yankee bought a load of the wood, which he brought up town, cut into small pieces and offered for sale at five cents a piece. His trade was a brisk one, too. The relic seekers were also anxious to obtain a fragment of the OLD ELM, and their requests became so importunate that a special policeman was detailed to guard the tree. Today, the excitement has subsided and we are beginning to forget that any unusual event has occurred to ruffle the monotony of the week.

STATE POLITICS are taking up a great deal of time just now, Gov. Claflin's renomination is, well assured, that people are already speculating in regard to the result. If the fight were to be fought upon national issues there would scarcely be a doubt of the result; but this vexed local question of Prohibition vs License has crawled into a prominent place.—Whether it is better, to be ruled by an ardent and faithful Republican with prohibitory principles or a liberal Democrat who favors the establishment of a license law for the sale of strong drink. Therein lies the problem. Of course, we have but very few who are insane enough to predict the election of Adams, but there are many who assume to prophesy a liberal majority in the next Legislature. The canvass will not fairly open until after the Republican State Convention on the 22d, but the Democrats are amusing themselves and getting their camp in order by flag-raisings, the organization of political clubs and the like.

TOWN GOSSIP.

The Daily News, Times and Tribune are three new penny papers just put upon the street. The former has apparently a short lease of life; the Times is well booked-up and ably edited, but cannot fight successfully the New England Associated Press, while the Tribune is a campaign sheet, devoted to the interests of prohibition.

The Harvard University crew will have a noble reception on their return to this city.

All the theatres and two minstrel shows are in full blast.

Work on the new Postoffice is progressing bravely.

Gen. Butler is an aspirant for the U. S. Senate. So is Gov. Claflin, Dr. Loring and a host of others.

David Leavitt, or "Dave," as his friends love to call him has been retired from active service on the Journal repertorial staff and is now travelling towards the Pacific coast for his health.

A. G. H.

THE LATE COAL MINE HORROR—FINDING OF THE DEAD BODIES.—On Wednesday morning the condition of the Avondale mine being such as was expected to justify a still more minute exploration, about 9 o'clock four men descended, and after proceeding a short distance from the bottom of the shaft, discovered a large number of dinner pails and tin cups. This was the first link in the terrible chain of truth which was so soon to prove that the holocaust was as complete and terrible as the mind can conceive. Subsequent proceedings, and their shocking results, are thus described:

"About half an hour later another squad entered the mine, and after exploring along the vault and chambers nearly 1500 feet, a sickening sight was revealed. At this point about sixty-five dead bodies were found, and these were lying literally in a heap. Fathers were found locked in the dying embrace of their sons, stone-limed and stone-hearted men were discovered with their limbs entwined about each other. It was a ghastly spectacle, and when the men returned to the pure air above, and stood face to face with the thousands of anxious souls that were impatiently waiting to hear the result, and announced the hideous discovery that had been made in the regions of death, a shudder vibrated through the multitude, and a wail went through Wyoming Valley such as has not been heard there since the historic massacre which Campbell has immortalized in verse. The news of the discovery of the bodies, as shocking as it was, and particularly upon the families so suddenly bereaved, was relieved, of course, of its terribleness by the announcement that the dead men and dead boys lying down in the pit would all be brought to the surface of the shaft, and after identification, be delivered to their friends for burial.

At half past seven o'clock, one of the gangs which had just returned said that they went up the plane, just beyond which a barrier was met consisting of a car packed around with coal, culm and clothing. This was cleared away, and after proceeding a little farther, another barrier was met, nearly completed, constructed like the first. One man was found on the outside, where he was at work laying up the wall. All was completed, save a small aperture, just sufficient to admit the passage of a human body, and it is to be inferred that he had just finished his task and was preparing to join his fellow sufferers on the opposite side of the barricade by crawling back.

This barrier was removed, when a large portion of the force was found together and piled one upon the other, dead.

Up to 7 o'clock in the evening 65 bodies were taken from the mine. The faces of the dead looked wonderfully natural, there being but few bruises and few lacerations of the flesh to be seen upon them. The miners were hard at work diving down into the mine, and the bodies were being removed at the rate of about eight or ten per hour.

Each body is brought up by a fresh squad of men, all volunteers, who work with a bravery which is exceeded only by the sorrow which oppresses them all. Of the whole number (203 men and boys) in the mine at the time of the explosion, more than one-half the men were married and had families dependent upon them for support. As fast as their bodies are identified they are delivered into the charge of their friends to be prepared for burial. Coffins have been sent from Scranton, Pittston, Wilkesbarre and other places to meet the demand which Avondale makes upon her sister towns and cities in the valley. Such utter wretchedness was never witnessed anywhere as that which is manifested by wives and daughters and sisters as they recognized in the lifeless forms before them the loved ones who would never smile upon them, again this side of eternity.

The fifty third and fifty fourth bodies unearthed were a father and his son, named John Burch, senr., and John Burch, jr. So tightly were they locked in each others arms that it was found to be a difficult task to separate them, and it did seem to be at last cruel to disunite their arms, when they had embraced each other in death, and lay down upon the bottom of the poisoned pit, kissed each other for the last time, and perished.

A horrible fear, it is said, has seized many persons whose residences are near the shafts which perforate this anthracite region. Almost above the shaft beneath which this calamity occurred, is a row of cottages in which many of the miners lived with their families, as near as has been ascertained. The group of sixty dead bodies were found lying directly under this row of cottages, while the remainder of the victims must lie far distant. It is feared that some time or another the whole will explode and belch forth fire like a volcano, and destroy everything within the reach of its fiery clutch.

There is one thing certain, however; namely, that no more shafts will be sunk in Pennsylvania unless corresponding ones are also put down, so that in the event of an explosion like that of Monday, the miners may have means of egress.

A heavy rain has been falling since early evening, but the miners are pursuing their work most heroically. They are determined, if possible, to have the mine cleared by tomorrow night, and from present prospects, it is likely that they will accomplish as much."

BUSINESS NOTICE

THE PRESIDENTS OF THE UNITED STATES. It will be seen by referring to another column, that John Rankerson, of Portland, advertises for Agents to sell the "Lives of the Presidents of the United States," by John S. C. Abbott. The author will be recognized as a native of Maine, and one of the most interesting and graphic historical writers in the country. We see no reason why this would not be a good book for canvassers.

Dental Card.

Dr. J. F. BABCOCK,

(From the Pennsylvania College of Dental Surgery)

SURGEON DENTIST,

No. 9 Ohio Street, Bangor,

Contemplates returning to Philadelphia about the middle of October next to be absent during the following four months.

He makes this announcement for the benefit of many who have consulted him in regard to operations which they propose having performed during the winter months, as well as for the information of any who may desire his services previous to his leaving.

He takes much pride in being able to state that out of the very large number of aching teeth—aching from every cause, including Periostitis, Ulceration, and Nerve Exposure—which he has treated during the last summer and spring, that in no single one has he failed to relieve the pain instantly, not destroying the life of the nerve when exposed,—the death of which is eminently dangerous to the vitality of the whole tooth—and in no single instance has he failed to permanently preserve the tooth in as healthy a condition as every respects as any of its fellows.

All diseases of the mucous membrane of the mouth successfully treated as usual.

When fitting the mouth for artificial teeth—it being the only condition under which he extracts—the operation will be performed with the least possible pain, either being administered to suitable patients when desired.

Dr. B. returns his sincere thanks to his patients for the unexpectedly large practice which he has obtained to so great extent through their influence, and trusts through faithful service and earnest endeavor to give the utmost satisfaction to all, who decide to employ him as their dentist.

N. B.—All charges will be moderate, and deserving persons unable to pay the regular charges for artificial teeth, will meet with very favorable consideration.

Miscellany.

Follox the Best Honesty.

Mr. Nasby, who is now stumping the State of Ohio for Pendleton, has no time to write for the newspapers. He sends thowever a letter from Deacon Pogram, containing all the recent news from the Corners and, particularly the following account of the ingenious financial policy adopted by the corporation in dealing with a carpet-bagger named Pollock, who had merely advanced money on the municipal bonds and was necessary enough to expect to be paid for the use of it:

The prevailin topic uv discussion seems to be whether it iz best the trouble with Pollock and an ablishen friend uv hissen who lives in Springfield, Illinoy, the festin place of that human gorilla, A. Linkin, growin out uv the bond question. You remember three years ago the corporashun behind its bonds bearin six per cent. for $2000 to build a lock-up; and a year later, when it wuz found necessary to gravel the road betwixt the Corners and the sixteen at Sessionsville, so as to redooce the freight on the whiskey consumed by us, we issood bonds bearin eight per cent. to the amount uv $4,000, both amoos runnin twenty-five years. These bonds were taken by Pollock and his friend uv hisen.

Last week paid the interest on these bonds, but this year the people felt that the burden wuz too heavy. They could not reconsile themselves to the idea of swoonin in support uv the luxury the bloated bondholders and the populis mustmured agin it. Wat to do we didn't know, till finally Elder Pomtinbacker, who borrows my paper, remarked, 'Burreker—I've got it.' He bed bin readin a demekratic proposishun to tax bonds, and a lite dawned onto him.

'Well, tax them bonds uv Pollock's,' sed the elder, 'and thus relieve ourselves uv the thraldom to the money power. Thank heavun, the people hevn't parted with all uv their power.'

The sogestion wuz acted on at wunst. The council wuz assembled, and by a yoo-nanimous vote an ordinance wuz passed levying eight cents onto the dollar on all bonds issood by the corporashun for money borrowed uv all sorts.

Pollock, wuz away when the ordinance wuz passed, and it happened that he returned the very day that his interest wuz due. Immejitely he proceeded to the treazer's office, which is Captin McFelter's, with his coupons. Captin McFelter received him blandly, and, puttin the coupons away, tendered him in foo thereof a receipt of $320 taxes on them sed bonds.

'Wat is this?' ejaculated the astonished Pollock.

'Taxes!' returned McFelter, smilingly. 'We hev assessed a tax onto our bonds juv eight cents onto the dollar, wich it happens is jest wat your interest is. We skorn repudiation—we shel pay principal and interest—but we hev the rite to tax bones and sox ont we will.'

'Is the tax eight cents onto the dollar on all bonds uv the corporashun?' asked Pollock.

'Trooly it is,' said McFelter.

'I hold also the bonds issood a year before these for building a lock-up, but wich only bears six per cent over—what will yoo dowith the two per cent?'

'Do with it!' exklaimed McFelter. 'Why, wokshel apply it to the payment uv the principal, uv course. The only revenoo of the corporashun is pledged to the extinguishment uv its debt, and we shell not be recreant to our trust.'

Pollock went away, but McFelter had a new idea. Immejitely called the council together and sejested that the tax on the bonds ought to be twelve instead uv eight per cent, ez that tax would not only pay the interest on the eight per cent. bonds but would extinguish the bonds thirseves. The six per cent. bond would not only be eaten up, but would leave Pollock in debt to the corporashun long before they wuz doo. The way uv escape from our troubles wuz so very plain that the council unanimously did it, and nofis wuz given Pollock uv the nob arsen.

Immejitely the cravon wretch wantid to sell the bonds to the city at half their face, but the proposishun was rejected with scorn. The council passed a resolution rebooking him for intimatin that the Corners would not hve up to its obligations.

'Ez much ez we loathe you,' remarked Elder Pomtinbacker, the municipal president, 'we shel pay yoor bonds dollar for dollar, principle and interest—but bring yoo, however, to bear sich taxation ez may be levied onto yoo.'

'But ez the tax eats up both interest and painopal, what do I get for my money?' askt the stiff-necked man.

The protechshun of our laws!' thundered Pomtinbacker.

The people were so indignant at this ablishonist meddled for his objectin to the obliterashun of a proceedin that they mobbed his store and wood have hung him, but for the interferonde of Joe Bigler, who talkid where he ain't wantid. Ez it wuz, he was mostid for breedin disturbances and fined $20. He tendered in payment uv his fine, a corporashun bond, but the justis refoosed, very properly, to take it, and held him till he shelled out a greenback from his stagnon hoards.

Pollock feels sore, but we don't. Relieved from these bonds, the Corners will have no taxes to pay, and we confidently expekt a return uv the prosperity to which we hev bin so long a stranger.
